DWARF SKELETONS AGAIN.

A communication in the Gazette of the 10th instant, by "Historicus," accounting in a rational manner for the graves on the arm of Mr. Long, has given rise to the following remarks, as tending to cast further light on the subject, and in part confirm the opinion of the writer. Mr. L. informed me that himself, his lady, and another, were present at the opening of several graves, after the spot had been visited by some of the learned faculty from St. Louis. One grave was opened which measured four feet in length; this was formed by laying a flat stone at the bottom, placing one on each side, one at each end, and covering the mouth with another.

In the last circumstance this grave differed from the others that were opened; the contents were a full grown skeleton, with the head and teeth, and part of the spine, the thigh, and leg bones, in a tolerable state of preservation. The leg bones were found lying parallel with the bones of the thighs, and every appearance indicated that the corpse had been entombed, with the legs and thighs placed so as to meet, or that a skeleton had been deposited in this order. The first opinion seems the most probable, from the fact, that a large stone pipe was found in the tomb, and which I understand is now in the possession of Mr. Long.

It is a well known fact, that both implements of war and of domestic use, are buried with the dead bodies of the Indians, but it admits of a query, if they are ever deposited with the mere skeleton.

"It is a well known fact," says Bishop Madison, while writing on the supposed fortifications of the western country,* "that among many of the Indian tribes, the bones of the deceased are annually collected and deposited in one place, the funeral rites are then solemnized with the warmest expressions of love and friendship, and that this untutored race, urged by the feelings of nature, consign to the bosom of the earth along with the remains of their deceased relations, food, weapons of war, and often those articles they possessed and most highly valued when alive." This fact is substantiated from various respectable sources. The pious custom of collecting the relics of the dead, which accident, or events of a battle, might have dispersed through the wilderness, easily accounts for the singular graves on the Merimec, as well as explains the origin of the artificial mounds in our vicinity. If these were opened there would be found, promiscuously deposited, the bones of the aborigines, which pious veneration from age to age, and from century to century, industriously collected. The cemetary alluded to, on the plantation of Mr. Long, may be viewed, as the public burial place of some powerful nation of the same size, and of similar customs, with other Indians. No wish is entertained to object against the hypothesis of "Historicus," in regard to the customs to which he alludes. The shortness of the graves may be attributed to different causes.

Respectfully, yours, &c.
J. M. PECK.

* See American Philosophical Transactions vol. VI.

Washington, March 31.

The President departed from this city yesterday, in the steam boat for Norfolk, with an intention to proceed by Pasquotank, the Albemarle and Pamlico Sound, to Wilmington, Charleston and Savannah, having in view, in reference to public defence, a careful inspection of all the inlets from the ocean. The reports of the board of Commissioners, consisting of officers of the Corps of Engineers and of the navy, relative to a naval depot, dock-yards and fortifications, point out the objects peculiarly deserving his attention.—From Savannah his course will probably depend upon circumstances. The season, it is expected, will be too far advanced to admit his passage by land to N. Orleans, if indeed, it were proper, to take that route before the late treaty with Spain is carried into effect. Should he not continue his journey towards New-Orleans, it is said he will proceed westward by Augusta, thro' Tennessee and Kentucky, to the new states, or to some of them. In that section of the union, many objects of the highest interest present themselves to view, a correct knowledge of which, it is believed, would be useful to all employed in the public councils. Our relations with the Indian tribes, under the immense sessions of territory obtained from them by the treaties of the last year, are of that character. The game on which they have principally relied heretofore, will no longer furnish them with a subsistence. New efforts will be necessary to civilize them, and effectual regulations must be adopted for the purpose, or they will perish. The great amount of the public lands, which constitute an inexhaustable source of wealth to the whole nation; the disposition of our troops to protect our frontier settlements and preserve peace with the Indians—to protect the Indians themselves from injustice—and to secure the public lands from intrusions; are subjects highly worthy of the attention of those to whom the management thereof is intrusted, and particularly of the Chief Magistrate.

Mr. Monroe has evidently considered it his duty to attend in person to these objects since he was elected into the present office and particularly to measures relating to the public defence. The late war obviously formed an epoch in our history, and furnished the motive, if it did not impose the obligation on the Chief Magistrate, to give to those measures the utmost activity and vigor. We have not forgotten the imminent perils of that momentous struggle—the desolation of our coast, throughout its whole extent—the great number of our citizens who were called, even from the most remote parts of the interior, to its defence, and the waste of life from disease, which followed. Had the coast been fortified, one tenth of the force would have been more adequate to its defence, and more than nine tenths of our citizens and property thus lost would have been saved from destruction. We all recollect the ability and virtue with which the citizen, then at the helm, sustained that struggle, and his persevering firmness in moments of the severest trial. Mr. Monroe then acted under him, in the department of war, and having witnessed the difficulties of that struggle, he thinks it incumbent on him to exert every means in his power to carry into effect the salutary laws and provisions of congress, since adopted, to avert like calamities, in the event of another war.

Such, obviously, are the motives and the objects that, in the opinion of the President, impose upon him this arduous duty, which he commenced soon after the national concerns were confided to his hands and which he is now prosecuting.

The Secretary of war sat out with the President, and will accompany him until he leaves the coast for the interior.

We have been requested to give a salutary caution to the publick, respecting certain notes of the Bank of Cincinnati, which are made payable at the city Bank of Baltimore, at some number of days after their date. One of these notes handed to us for the purpose of giving this caution, bears date "Cincinnati, 7th Sept. 1818, and contains a promise that the President, Directors & Co. of the Bank of Cincinnati, ninty days after date, will pay J. G. Lamb or order at the city Bank of Baltimore FIVE DOLLARS." It is signed E. Stone, Pres. L. Pugh, Cashr. and indorsed J. G. Lamb. Although this note according to its tenor was payable more than three months since, it is stated to day that there are no funds at the city Bank applicable to its payment. And such, we learn, is generally the answer given on presentation of similar notes for payment. [Balt. Federal Gazette.

AGE OF EXPERIMENT.

By an advertisement in this day's paper it will be seen that the new and elegant Steam Ship Savannah, is to leave our harbor to morrow. Who would have had courage, 20 years ago, to hazard a prediction, that in the year 1819, a ship of three hundred tons burden, would be built in the port of New-York, to navigate the Atlantic propelled by steam? Such, however, is the fact. With admiring hundreds have we repeatedly viewed this prodigy; and can also bear witness to the wonderful celerity with which she is moved through the water. On Monday last a trial was made of her speed, & although there was at no time more than an inch of steam upon her, and for the greatest part not half an inch, with a strong wind and tide ahead, she went within a mile of the anchoring ground at Staten Island and returned to Fly-market wharf in one hour and fifty minutes. When it is considered that she is calculated to bear twenty inches of steam, and that her machinery is entirely new, it must be evident that she will, with ease, pass any of the steam boats upon our rivers. Her cabin is finished in an elegant style and fitted up in the most tasty manner. There are thirty two births, all of which are state rooms. The cabin for ladies is entirely distinct from that intended for gentlemen, and it is admirably calculated to afford that perfect retirement which is so rarely found on board passenger ships. For beauty of model, the Savannah has seldom been exceeded. She is commanded by captain Moses Rodgers, an experienced engineer, and belongs to a company of enterprising gentlemen in Savannah, who have spared no expense in rendering her an object worthy of public admiration and patronage. She is so constructed as to be navigable in the usual way, with sails, whenever the weather shall be such as to render the use of her wheels in the least degree dangerous.

This vessel is intended as a "Savannah and Liverpool Packet," and we sincerely hope the liberal-minded proprietors may be abundantly rewarded for their efforts to facilitate the communication between Great Britain and America. [Com. Adv.

A Lisbon Gazette of the 9th ult, received by the Atalanta, at New York, contains an important Spanish Royal Order, made at the recommendation of the supreme council of war, relative to the treatment of foreigners engaged in assisting the insurgents of South America, dated at Madrid, 14th January. By which it is declared, that "all foreign adventures who shall be apprehended with arms in their hands in his majesty's Ultra-Marine dominions under the flag of the said Insurgents, or furnishing them with munitions of war, shall suffer capital punishment; and that such persons shall not be comprehended in the pardons which his majesty has conceded or shall hereafter concede in favour of his natural subjects."

By Mr. James Corneal, mate of schooner Contradiction, of Baltimore, we learn that the C. under the command of capt. Southcomb, sailed from Aux-Cayes for Balt. 20th Feb. on the 24th off the Platform, was bro't to by an armed fluche under Artigas' flag, sheered alongside and sent 10 men on our deck, each with a boarding sword, and a brace of pistols cockt: one of them ran below and bringing up a Spanish flag, spread the same, and accused the captain of covering Spanish vessel and property.

The captain told them there was no such flag on board, until brought by them; they began abusing the whole of the ship's company, with loud imprecations and threats, flourishing their swords over their heads, and presenting their pistols; they robbed us of all our clothing, etc. and talked of dispatching us as they liked our schooner much—(they then threw over our boat and told us to jump into her—though scarcely able to live, and filled before reaching the shore) threw in one bag of bread, pointed to the shore, then filled away and went off with the schnr, and on reaching the shore were apprehended by the soldiers on suspicion of pirates, and marched to cape N. Mole, thence to the cape.

The crew of the above vessel consisted of a gang of desperadoes of all colours, and of the most frightful appearance. The captain appeared to be a Spaniard, and spoke many languages fluently. The crew spoke a lingo of all sorts, but Spanish appeared to be the principal. The C. had a cargo of 7 or 800 bags coffee.

LOSS OF THE SCHR COMMERCE OF BALTIMORE.

The following particulars of the loss of the schnr Commerce, have been obtained from Capt. Hamilton, who with the crew of the said schr arrived at this port on Saturday. [Reading Room Books.

The Commerce sailed from Baltimore for Charleston on the 16th inst. laden with corn. On the night of the 20th, off the S. shoal of Cape Hatteras, was struck by a heavy squall from the N. E. without any previous indication of a change of weather, which hove her upon her beam ends, and before a sail could be taken in shipped a great quantity of water through her forecastle and companion. On getting her before the wind under a reefed foresail, she strained and labored much, the sea making such a breach over her as to carry away her bulwarks and swept every thing from deck. The pumps were sounded and three feet water found in the hold, but the corn had got into the well and choaked them—the water soon appeared in the after run and increased so fast, that it was evident she must soon go down. Under this impression the boats were got out, some provisions and nine gallons of water put on board, and finding the vessel settling so fast, the crew, eight in number, went on board the long boat which was 17 feet in length, and with a rope making it fast to the stern of the schr intended to lay by her as long as she floated, under the hope that they might be picked up by some vessel; but at about 11 o'clock the following day she fell over upon her larboard side, and the crew had but just time to cut themselves from her, when she sunk! Capt. H. and his crew then put the head of the boat to the westward, and notwithstanding the cold rain, heavy sea and sudden squalls, with nothing to comfort them but the near prospect of a watery grave, they remained in this situation, exhausted with fatigue, for 48 hours, when they were picked up by the schr Susan, Capt. Tilton, of Scituate, (Mas.) off Roanoke Inlet. The S. was bound to the northward, and until she arrived off Cape Henry, where captain Hamilton and his boat's crew were set ashore, captain Tilton afforded them every comfort and relief which it was possible for a humane and worthy man to bestow, for which capt. H. and his crew are desirous publickly to express their acknowledgements. To Mr. Burroughs, at Cape Henry Light-House, and to Lemuel Cornick, Esq. of Princess Ann, who generously administered to their comfort, and afforded them every facility to reach this place: they also desire to express the gratitude which they feel towards them for their benevolent conduct.

Notice,

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE,
Fairfax Court-House, Va.

Exchange Coffee-House, at Havana.

JAMES BRISS, the director of this important mercantile establishment in the great commercial town of the Havana, takes this method of informing the Supercargoes, Masters of vessels, and all other persons trading to the above port, that he has opened on the 5th February 1819, under the protection of Royal Tribunal Consulado, and the approbation of his own government, "The New and Elegant Exchange House," on a plan that would do honor to any of the large sea towns of the United States of America. It is intended for the accommodation of merchants, natives, and foreigners, and likewise for captains of vessels and strangers, arriving every day in commercial and agricultural pursuits.—The house is situated in an airy part of the town, No. 7, Calle del Obispo, opposite the southern wing of the Governors' Palace. The building is commodious, having four large rooms elegantly furnished: besides that of the subscribers there is one for the use of non-residents. They will find American, English and French newspapers, price currents, pamphlets, charts, and maps—lists of vessels arrived, those about to sail, and the time of their clearances, and other interesting matter for the commercial world. The proprietor therefore will be extremely happy to see masters of vessels, supercargoes, and passengers soon after their arrival.

In order to render this infant establishment more useful and interesting, the proprietor begs leave to request them to procure several newspapers of the places of their departure—and to report the news they may get on their passages; and at the same time requests them to call one hour before their departure sailing from the above port to procure the shipping list, price current, or other news of commercial nature, which the said James Briss, will be happy to furnish them with.

It is well to observe that there is a bar room for refreshments, but not billiard tables, or any other kind of amusements are allowed. March 9.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about, two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given, for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that he will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or
